

Taylor Kim

Technical Writer & Documentation Engineer

taylor.kim@email.com | (555) 789-0123 | Portland, OR | taylorkim.dev

Technical writer with 6+ years creating developer documentation, API references, and educational content. Expert in docs-as-code workflows, information architecture, and making complex systems understandable.

Experience

Senior Technical Writer

Feb 2022 – Present

Stripe, Portland, OR (Remote)

- Own API documentation for Stripe Connect (used by 100K+ developers monthly)
- Redesigned onboarding documentation reducing developer time-to-first-integration by 35%
- Built interactive code samples in 6 languages with automated testing (zero stale examples)
- Established style guide and content templates adopted across 4 documentation teams
- Collaborate with engineering to document new features pre-launch; review 50+ PRs monthly

Technical Writer

Aug 2019 – Jan 2022

Twilio, San Francisco, CA

- Authored 200+ pages of API documentation, tutorials, and quickstart guides
- Created video tutorials (50K+ views) explaining complex messaging APIs
- Implemented docs-as-code pipeline (Markdown, Git, CI/CD) replacing legacy CMS
- Reduced support tickets by 25% through improved troubleshooting documentation

Documentation Specialist

Jun 2017 – Jul 2019

Atlassian, Austin, TX

- Wrote end-user and admin documentation for Jira Cloud features
- Conducted user research to identify documentation gaps and pain points
- Managed localization workflow for documentation in 8 languages

Skills

Writing: API Documentation, Tutorials, Conceptual Guides, Release Notes, Style Guides

Tools: Markdown, reStructuredText, AsciiDoc, OpenAPI/Swagger, Postman, ReadMe.io

Technical: Python, JavaScript, Git, CI/CD, HTML/CSS, Static Site Generators (Hugo, Docusaurus)

Methods: Docs-as-Code, DITA, Information Architecture, User Research, Content Strategy

Education

B.A. English & Computer Science

University of Oregon, 2017

Portfolio & Publications

“The Art of API Documentation” – Write the Docs Conference 2023 (Speaker)

Open-source contributor: Docusaurus, MDX, OpenAPI Generator

Blog: taylorkim.dev/writing (15K monthly readers)